

Bon Appetit's 'Grub Crawl' Set for Greenpoint, Lower East Side

Pig and Khao's Leah Cohen said people love to learn about what they're eating and who's preparing it.

"You get to try all these different venues, and you get to interact with the chefs or the bartender, whoever is there, and you get to sample a lot of really delicious things," Cohen says.

Cohen is the only woman chef and restaurateur on the crawl, and she is one of only a handful of chefs in the city to combine Thai and Filipino influences with her sizzling Thai-style chicken wings that have been breaded twice to her sweet and spicy barbecue baby backs served with slaw.

